Get with the program

VACC Auto Apprenticeships is seeking to employ bright students, capable of meeting the technologically advanced demands of today's automotive industry.

In return, Auto Apprenticeships provides a smooth pathway for students wanting to enter the workforce. We recruit the best candidates and match them to a workshop, pay for the necessary medical examination, conduct an induction program, provide an introduction to the host and place them on the VACC payroll.

Apprentices also attend VACC's award-winning Life Skills Program.

We're in it for the long haul, so it doesn't end there. Trade-qualified Field Supervisors are responsible for individual apprentices. They regularly visit the apprentices in the workplace to provide ongoing mentoring and support, while engaging with business owners and staff to ensure everything is running smoothly. If there's a problem our Field Supervisors are there to help and remedy the situation.

The automotive industry employs 400,000 Australians

The Australian automotive industry is a $145 billion economy

School-based Apprenticeships/ Traineeships

It's the perfect way to start an automotive career while you're still in school.

Students undertaking a School-based Apprenticeship/Traineeship will generally work with host employers for one or two days a week, and on other days study for VCE or VCAL.

School-based Apprenticeship/ Traineeships can be undertaken during years 10, 11 & 12 and will contribute to your VCE or VCAL results.

The Benefits

- VCAL, VCE and your certificate qualifications gained simultaneously
- Paid employment
- Formal training with a Registered Training Organisation
- A work history to assist in obtaining employment after leaving school
- Greater career options
- On completion of Certificate II, the opportunity to up-skill to a full trade qualification is available with VACC
- Auto Apprenticeships is the only industry peak body employer of apprentices and trainees
